Important Information for GED Test Candidates

The 2002 paper based version of the GED Test has ended. The era of computer based testing has arrived. The new 2014 version of the GED Test will be computer based and administered at a Pearson Vue Testing Center.

Luzerne County Community College is in the final phases of its contracting to become a Pearson Vue Testing Center.

You can find information on GED Testing in your area by going to www.ged.com and click on “getting started”.

Please check back to this site periodically through the first few months of 2014, as our timeline for testing will be geared toward that time frame.

Thank you for your interest.

The LCCC Official GED® Test Center reserves the right to change the schedule and registration fees.  Updated 12/16/2013
